

STATUTES ON CONGENITAL ANOMALIES BY STATES

We are grateful to volunteer Marci Barbey for compiling this report. It is intended to serve as a guide for families affected by ectodermal dysplasias so you can learn if your state has any statutes regarding congenital anomalies. This information should be a helpful place to begin as you work for insurance coverage of your dental care. We encourage you to do your own research as well and read the statutes thoroughly.

Notes from Marci Barbey

The link below was extremely helpful in trying to locate information on statutes regarding congenital anomalies, particularly pages 7-11 (all up-to-date as of July 2014).

It is important to know, not all states have adopted the Newborn and Adopted Children Coverage Model Act, which includes legislation on coverage for congenital anomalies. Some states have instead adopted older versions of the 2014 Model Regulation. Several states have not adopted.

It appears that some of the statutes listed on that document are not correct.

<http://www.naic.org/store/free/MDL-155.pdf>

Also, for many of the states, I was able to find the law very quickly on the state's actual website. However, for the remainder, the only links I could find were on outside websites like "Justia US Law" or "Lexis Nexus".

ALABAMA

If you click on the first link below, it will take you to the Alabama Dept. of Insurance page for Title 27 -Alabama Insurance Code. Then scroll down to Chapter 19 - Disability Insurance Policies and click on that you will be taken to the General Provisions page. Click on 27-19-38 and that will bring you to the pertinent clause about congenital anomalies (which is also the 2nd link below).

Section 27-19-38

<http://alisondb.legislature.state.al.us/alison/CodeOfAlabama/1975/27-19-38.htm>

However, I also found their State Employee's Health

Insurance Plan and it specifically EXCLUDES any dental treatment due to birth defects. (See page 48-49 of policy document).

And I found this: "In Alabama, the individual health insurance market is largely unregulated. State law does not require guaranteed issued coverage for any kind of individual health insurance plan."

This link below is for a policy dated 2012. I found other documents, but they also were dated 2012. (Even though if you go to the second link below, it states it's the most recent for Alabama, but when you open the document, it's dated 2012).

CALIFORNIA

COLORADO

Section 10-16-104

<http://codes.findlaw.com/co/title-10-insurance/co-rev-st-sect-10-16-104.html>

<https://www.colorado.gov/pacific/sites/default/files/Mandated%20Health%20Insurance%20Benefits.pdf>

I'm not sure Colorado's law benefits people with ectodermal dysplasia. It seems to cover only congenital anomalies for the first 31 days, except for cleft lip/palate for which there is no time limit.

The 2nd link is to a document from 2011 that list mandated benefits and it says it will cover other congenital anomalies but only to age six. (This document may not open properly. You may have to increase the viewing size to 200% in order to read it.)

CONNECTICUT

Section 38a-490 (c) (for individual policies)

Section 38a-491 and 491a (also for individual policies)

Section 38a-516 (c) and 38a-517 (for group policies)

Section 38a-513c for definition of "Medically Necessary"

<https://law.justia.com/codes/connecticut/2012/title-38a/chapter-700c/section-38a-490>

When you click on the above link, you can scroll to all the other statutes listed above. They are in numerical order.

Section 38a-490c and 516c that they will cover orthodontic procedures and appliances for craniofacial disorders for individuals 18 years of age or under. So, does that mean they won't cover it if you are over 18?

DELAWARE

Section 3336

If you google Delaware code 3336, you get something about their Criminal Code. But if you go to the link below, it takes you to the congenital anomaly section, so I find their coding system to be somewhat confusing.

FLORIDA

Section 627.641 (Individual policies)

<https://www.flsenate.gov/Laws/Statutes/2011/627.641>

Statutes/2011/627.641

This seems to only cover for the 1st 18 months?

Section 627.6575 (Group, blanket or franchise policies)

http://www.leg.state.fl.us/statutes/index.cfm?App\_mode=Display\_Statute&Search\_String=&URL=0600-0699/0627/Sections/0627.6575.html

This also seems to only cover for the 1st 18 months???

Section 641.31 (HMO's)

http://www.leg.state.fl.us/Statutes/index.cfm?App\_mode=Display\_Statute&Search\_String=&URL=0600-0699/0641/Sections/0641.31.html

GEORGIA

Section 33-24-22

<http://www.lexisnexis.com/hottopics/gacode/Default.asp>

HAWAII

Section 431:10A-115 (Individual)

Section 431:10A-206 (Group)

Section 432:1-602 (Mutual benefit societies)

I could not find any laws on Hawaii's site, only through this Justia site. I don't know if they are up-to-date:

<http://law.justia.com/codes/hawaii/2013/title-24/chapter-431/section-431-10a-115>

<http://law.justia.com/codes/hawaii/2013/title-24/chapter-431/section-431-10a-206>

<http://law.justia.com/codes/hawaii/2013/title-24/chapter-432/section-432-1-602>

What I did find on Hawaii.gov site is the below link but it only lists the titles & numbers of all the laws without letting you click on each to see what they say. If you scroll down to 431:10a-115 you'll see that the law address Coverage of Newborn Children, but doesn't tell you what it says.

Section 41-2210 (group and blanket disability insurance)

I found this link helpful as well. See specifically page three, item # 02 "Health Plan." This cites all the sections above, so I guess health plans are bound by the same language as the above policies.

HOWEVER, please note that the last sentence in this states:

Section 62A.25 (Reconstructive Surgery)

NOTE, however, that the phrase “congenital anomaly” is not used in this statute.

However, Montana rules for Medicaid seems to cover it. I don't know if that helps:
